DEFEATED BY WEST POINTERS 22 TO S ON FRANKLIN FIELD.

Tars Were Outweighed, and the Land-Lubbers Outfought Them in the Annual Battle.

'TWAS A GREAT SOCIAL EVENT

REALLY MORE OF A SOCIETY FUNC TION THAN A FOOTBALL GAME.

Grover and Mrs. Cleveland Were There, and Miss Alice Roosevelt "Rooted" for the Army.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 .- In the fourth contest on Franklin Field between the football elevens representing the army and navy to-day the young tars were beaten by the landlubbers by the score of 22 to 8. The first half ended with the score at 10 to 8 in favor of the West Point lads. West Point had made two touchdowns, neither of which resulted in a goal, while Annapolis scored a touchdown on a sensational half West Point's goal was never in danger, and the army duplicated its performance in the first half and kicked both goals.

As a football contest the game was mediocre, but as a society event it was a success. There were distinguished guests from both fighting departments of the government and prominent citizens from nearly every section of the United States. Former President and Mrs. Cleveland occupied a box on the army side and close to them sat Miss Alice Roosevelt. The box occupied by Miss Roosevelt was directly in front of the section occupied by the West Point cadets. Her sympathies were plainly with the army boys, but perchance as a balm for the navy lads she was becomingly attired in a navy blue gown. The President and Secretary of War Root were detained in Washington. Assistant Secretary of War Sanger looked after the Washington guests. In a box close to that occupied by Miss Roosevelt were Major Generals Young and Chaffee and Adjutant General Corbin. They were the guests of Clement A. Griscom, of this city. Gen. John C. Bates, commander of the Department of Missouri, also occupied a box. Between the halves Miss Roosevelt held an impromptu reception and shook hands with many friends. A great crowd congregated in front of the box anxious to catch a glimpse of the daughter of the Nation's

At the conclusion of the first half General Corbin and General Chaffee walked across the field to the navy side and condoned with Secretary Moody, who occupied a box with Congressmen Adams, of Pennsylvania, and Gillett, of Massachusetts. In a box adjoining that of Secretary Moody were Admiral Sands, Mrs. Sands and their daughter. While all were awaiting the reappearance on the field of the contending forces the two bands from the army and navy were vying with each other in playing tunes arranged for the occasion.

SCENE AT THE CLOSE. The scene at the close of the game was thrilling and spectacular. At the sound of the referee's whistle announcing the close of the contest the supporters of both institutions rushed to the soggy field and time and again the bands marched around the big grounds followed by students cheering wildly. Finally the West Pointers halted in front of the east goal. A cadet climbed the goal post and planted an army flag at the top. Not to be outdone by their victorious brethren, the navy boys made a rush for the same goal and in a moment two orange and blue flags floated definantly from the top of the other goal post.

But after all it was the football society event of the season and society won the Twenty thousand persons were pres-At the same time there was one or sensational runs. Strassburger's sixty-two-yard dash for a touchdown was brilliant, and Daly's running back of kicks was little short of marvelous, but the safety was due to bad judgment on his He caught the ball on West Point's line and notwithstanding that both Soule and Whiting were upon him he started to run the ball out. As a consequence he was pushed back and thrown behind the goal. For a time the Annapolis boys played fairly well, but the training of the heavy army cadets on the light sailors soon had its effect and before the close of the contest the navy had an almost entire substitute eleven. Daly outkicked Belknap by twenty yards to each exchange. When Strassburger got through the West Point center on a threadbare fake Daly failed to catch him, missing the tackle by a foot. His dive for the Navy half back was badly timed, an unusual performance on the part of West Point's star quarter. Both elevens were entertained by the Mask and bett-McGovern glove contest, which was Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania

ROWS OF SOCIETY PEOPLE. Previous to the game Franklin Field presented a beautiful picture, glowing with life and color. Banked on the gridiron sat row upon row of spectators and from every conceivable point loomed the picturesque colors of the contending academies. Probably no other function of the season is attended by a more brilliant assemblage. The leaders of society in many cities today filled the boxes ranged around the entire field. It is but natural that this event should be regarded with so much importance. The University of Pennsylvania also had as guests people from many institu-tions of learning. This morning special trains came from the North and South. bringing the entire corps of army and navy cadets, and shortly before the game another train brought the distinguished party of government officials from Wash-

It was 1:58 when the navy's squad came on the ficia from the southwest entrance. They were given a rousing send-off by their supporters, who occupied a section in the north stand, and also a complimentary cheer from the army contingent in the south stand. Five minutes later the army eleven came on the field from the same section and were given a tremendous send-off from their supporters. Both teams indulged in a brief signal practice and then the two captains were called to the cen-

Kentucky Chancery Courts Powerless

to Restrain Proposed "Mills."

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 29.-Judge Sterling B. Toney, sitting in chancery to-day, decided that a chancery court had no right to enjoin the commission of a felony. The decision has a bearing on the Young Corcalled off here some weeks ago, and is in effect that a proposed boxing match is not an injuctable matter. The court says the remedy is at common law and is a matter for criminal process. The case came to Judge Toney on a decision from the Court of Appeals, sustaining a motion for an injunction to prevent the McGovern-Corbett contest, scheduled for Oct. 22. The case may be further appealed. City Attorney Stone, for the commonwealth, made a motion for suspension of for union. Messrs. Watkins and Bryce, the dissolution of the injunction until the Court of Appeals can pass on Judge Toney's ruling. Argument on this was set for Monday. If it is not granted an appeal will be taken within twenty days on the motion to suspend the dissolution of the injunction. This will probably be passed on by the Court of Appeals in January. Manager Robert Gray, of the Southern Athletic Club, before which the McGovern and Corbett bout was scheduled to take place, refused to discuss the decision tonight, further than to say that he regarded the opinion as a victory for the boxing promoters. He also declined to state whether he would attempt to have any more fights here, saying that he did not deem it proper for him to talk prior to the final settlement of the case by the Court

There were a number of communications, and Manager Watkins made the announcement the latter part of the week that Babb would not play in Indianapolis. Another third baseman can be secured, or maybe one of the men already signed may be able to fill the position well. Indianapolis won the cham-pionship without Babb, and can get along next year without him.

He says Indianapolis will be as strong next season as any team in the association. have a faster team in 1903 than he had last Odwell, Flaherty, Ganzell, Dunkle, Flournoy, Tannehill and others who will be with other teams next season. Such fast men are hard to find, and only a few of them are in the market. Tebeau's claims that he will have a pennant winner are not considered seriously here. Speaking of the Indianapolis team for next season, Manager Watkins says: "We will practically have which we won the championship last sea-Kihm, for instance. Last winter he played the latter part of the summer. He will not play this winter, and will be able to put batting left-handed last year, and will show improvement next season. O'Brien will have a good man at third. In the outfield we will have Hogriever, Coulter and Pickett or Jones. > Concerning the recent Chicago peace conference, which ended by the American Association becoming a member of the National Association of Minor Leagues, the Sporting Life says:

"The inestimable results of the successful Chicago peace conference can hardly be pictured in words. For the National Association it means a future of tremendous possibilities in prestige, power and beneficence; for all leagues stability alike in adversity or prosperity; and for all club 5 to 1. owners vastly increased security for their investments and better prospects for fair return thereon. To sum up it is safe to say that nothing has ever occurred in baseball-save only the starting of the National Association-of such supreme importance to the indispensable financial interests of the national game as the unification of the National Association at the ever-memorable Chicago peace conference.

"And the artistic end of the sport will be quite as well conserved by the improved and happier conditions bound to follow the complete ascendancy of the National Association. Under the new era players' salaries may be somewhat less, but for that there will be ample and satisfactory compensation in the widened field of labor, the assurance of steady employment, the guarantee of full payment, and the effective system of meritorious promotion only possible under properly organized baseball. Probably discipline may be also somewhat more rigid, but that is not only necessary, but makes for increased public respect and support. Capable, decent and tractable players have nothing to fear in the matter of discipline; the other kind need not be considered at all. * * * "Messrs. Watkins and Bryce, of the American Association, also deserve special commendation for their share in the work while zealously guarding the interests of their league, were at all times sincere in their desire and active in their efforts for peace on honorable terms. Their work was characterized by an intelligence, energy, astuteness and diplomacy the writer, who was in close touch with every phase of the situation from New York to Chicago, has the American Association can never repay these two gentlemen for their grand and unselfish work in behalf of that organization, aside from the great benefit their persistent and sincere pacification efforts conferred on the sport at large."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 .- To-day's racing at Bennings brought to a close the fall meeting of the Washington Jockey Club. The fine weather brought out one of the largest crowds of the meet. The feature of the card was the Maximum, for threeyear-olds and upward, at three miles on the flat. This race was won by Douro, and despite the slow going he clipped four seconds off the best previous record over this course. At the stretch Major Mansir took the lead, with Douro and Carbuncle only heads behind. Passing the two miles post Carbuncle had a lead of about six lengths, Douro maintaining second position and Orontas moving into third place. Tichenor & Co.'s Cambrian, a mild favorite, was forced to his trumps to land the stake worth $1,610 to the winner. Prince of Endurance made the running to the stretch, where Frank M. took it up and forced the pace to the end. Irving Mayor was the only beaten favorite. ### CHAMPIONS MET DEFEA

INDIANAPOLIS BEATS MUNCIE IN AN EXCITING GAME.

Cusick, Muncie's Goal Tender, Was Severely Hurt-Anderson Won from Richmond-Scores.

The champion Muncie polo team met its first defeat of the season in Tomlinson Hall last night, when Indianapolis won by a score of 5 to 3. There were no "flukes" and the victory was well earned. The game was more exciting than the first one, played here last Tuesday night. The Muncie players made a whirlwind finish, but were unable to tie the score. Indianapolis scored two goals in the first period, two in the second and one in the third. Muncie scored one in the second period and two in the last period.

The defensive play of the Indianapolis team was especially strong, and this prob-star game at goal, while Hipson and Gavitt, the two rushes, did their share of the hard work. Coggshall and Way were in the game at all times, the playing of the Wands, Shriners ...... 150 latter attracting much attention. The Wiley, Shriners ...... 150 Muncie team is composed of strong individual players and their team work last night was excellent. Higgins, at rush, Cusick, at goal, saved many scores.

The contest was a hard-fought one and the large crowd applauded all during the game. The Indianapolis players were able to break up many of the team plays tried by Muncie, and also succeeded in preventing Higgins, the star rusher, from playing many of his tricks. There was no loafing in the contest, as the playing was furious at all times. During the first period Gav-179 itt drove the ball toward the cage with terrific force. The ball struck Cusick over the left ear and he fell to the floor unconscious. He regained consciousness in an instant and resumed play, but was not in the game during the second period. Ellis went to center, Wulf to half and 175 Tolin to goal. Cusick returned to the Hipson had the best of the rushes last night, although Higgins gave him a hard 173 race for the ball every time the signal was given. Higgins secured the first rush and Hipson made the first goal in 1:25. Hipson secured the next rush, and Coggshall drove the ball into the cage in 10:50. 173 | Hipson secured the next rush, but time was called for the first period before a goal could be made. Gavitt secured the two goals for Indianapolis in the second period. The play in the third period was very fast and after Higgins scored two goals there were fears of Muncle tying the score, but Gavitt caged the ball and placed

PROBABLE CHOICE OF THE FOOT.

BALL TEAM AT PURDUE.

Many Good Players to Leave School Next Year-Doar's Part in Thursday's Game-Basketbail Matters.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 29 .- Harry M. Leslie, captain of this year's Purdue football team, says he will not be a candidate for re-election and it looks now as though Irwin S. Osborne, of Dover, O., who has played such a strong game at quarter back, will next year lead the men. The election will take place some time before the annual football banquet, which is to be held within a few weeks. It looks now as though Boyer and Allen will neither Miller, all seniors, will make it necessary Koller, Keystone ...... 164 to develop a new center, end, tackle guard and half back. It is thought this can easily be done with the material in school year may furnish other players. Emiso will be tried in Davidson's place at center and with coaching should be as strong as "Davy." Long, a substitute, will ably fill Boyer's position should the latter not be place. The two most difficult holes to fill are those left by Allen's and Miller's with-borne, Knapp and Kaylor of the first team merman, G. Miller, Johnson, Emise, Long, Furr, Powell, White and Mills will be

> With the closing of the football season interest now turns to the basketball team and it looks as if this winter's team will be fully as strong as last year's championship five. Several men who have been unable to practice with the team because engaged in playing football are now out and practice is being held in the gymnasium, John Miller, Knapp and Kaylor have joined the squad. The first two played last year, and Kaylor's showing on the Indianapolis Manual Training School team gives him a bid on the position of center and he will be played there. The schedule for this sea-son is not yet complete, but the first game will be played on Dec. 12 with Wabash or Butler.

Some of the football players say that Salmon, full back for Notre Dame, was accorded too much credit in reports of Thursday's game. The players were so covered with mud, they say, that the reporters were unable to distinguish one man from another, and that much of the good work accredited to Salmon was done by Doar, left half for the visitors.

After a series of experiments made here to determine the relative tensile strength of bronze metal and nickel steel Oliver Iselin, who is to manage the new yacht, has decided to use the bronze metal for the new boat. Although the nickel steel proved to be of much greater strength, the gain was not enough to offset its lack of smoothness as compared with the
